Are humans called to love?

“So God created man in his own image, in the image of God he created him; male and female he created them.” Genesis 1:27

Essential Knowledge

By the end of this unit children will know...

... about significant people in history. They will learn how these individuals, through their loving actions, have brought communities together. With this, they will explore how living rightly and loving one another is witnessed through looking at the actions of significant individuals in history and will relate this to their own lives.

Through the greatest commandment of love of God and love of neighbour, Year 1 will develop an understanding of how Jesus loves us all very much and shows us how to love one another.

Catholic Social Teaching

... it is our vision that our children will become advocates for social justice, fighters for sustainability, seekers of equality and leaders seeking to become “builders of a new humanity” (Pope Francis).

Through the delivery of this unit of work children will develop an understanding of the importance of being active members of society who work towards the Common Good for the whole of humanity.

Building the Kingdom

Big Question:

Is man called to love?

Further questions to explore - How have others shown love through their words and actions?

How can we show love through our words and actions?

Rights and Responsibilities

Every person has a fundamental right to life. It is this right that makes all other rights possible. Everyone has the right to food, health care, housing, education and employment. We all need to strive to secure and respect these rights for others both locally and globally.

Option for the poor and vulnerable

As Catholics we need to put the needs of the poor and vulnerable first. As stated in Matthew 25: 34-40, “What you do for the least among you, you do for Jesus. “
